chest to be honest with you. I only had a magazine underneath the shirt and the photographer kept going. "Higher, higher," and I was like, "No mate, the magazine stops there, I stop there." It was really hot.

Joe We got given a load of clothes. It's normally like Bullseye at photoshoots, they show you how cool you could look and then they take it all away at the end. What tattoos have you got?

J I've got lots of them, they're all memories really of people I've met in my life so when I'm an old man I can remember the people that put me in the position I'm in.

N I got one when I was fifteen and depending on how you look at it, it's either a claw or a ship. I regretted it about a week after I did it. I remember going in there and they were all talking about driving and I was like, "What? I can't drive I'm only 15," and I literally felt the tattoo artist breathe in and go, "Oh God". Luckily he didn't stop though. Not a good experience, not a good tattoo. All-round failure.

What's the stupidest thing you've ever done?

N Maiming my own leg with a fork. There were actually four of us that did it, like the four prongs of the fork or whatever. We watched Jarhead a few nights before and we were like, "Let's brand ourselves!" Then we drank loads and loads of whiskey. It was very weird smelling of burning skin and hair.

Iwan Probably when I tried to surf down the central bit of the escalator at Angel tube station.

The longest one in Britain?

I Yeah. I found that out afterwards. I couldn't walk for three days.

If you could kill anyone with your superpowers who would it be, and most importantly, why?

I That's an awful question!

J David Starkey. Not long ago I watched his interview and his open racism is fascinating. Yeah, I'd be able to make my hand into a spear and put it through his fucking head. I thought David Starkey was a proper gentleman who knew all about the Tudors but then it appears he's actually a bit of a twit.

N I wouldn't kill David Starkey, I'd just shame him. Joe's obsessed with David Starkey right now. If he dies tomorrow we'll all know who did it.

If you were invisible, how would you know where your penis was when you went for a piss?

I That's a good point...

J I don't think I could give a fuck. I'd just go for it, just piss all over the seat.

N Free piss! That's a good idea!

Who gets the messiest when you all head out together?

N At the moment it's a toss up between Iwan and Lauren [who plays >
